Some day, some time, some one may go to England and trace the ancestry of Robert Rose, who came to New England in 1634, and of Jonathan Gillett, who came in 1630. At the present time, we give you what we have been able to find regarding these two pioneers.

This book also gives many of the maternal lines, carrying these lines until they connect up with other main lines.

TRADITION

Tradition says that the English Roses are descendants from the Scotch Roses.

From John Logan's SCOTTISH CLANS.

The Scotch family or Branch of the Rose family or the Roses of Kilvarock.

The word Rose or Ross as it was once spelled, indicates a Headland extending into the sea, or a tongue of high land reaching out into a plain, from this they derive their name.

As early as A. D. 1209, Hugh Rose held the land of Geddis in the County Inverness. In this year he appears in history as a witness in the founding of the Priory of Beaulieu.

The historical documents of the Rose family are among the most valuable of any in Scotland, both as regards their own line and that of the whole country at the present time. There are a great many documents, family portraits and relics at the castle Kilvarock, the great tower of which was built by Hugh Rose in 1460. The buildings are still in use by the family as a dwelling. The papers and curios can be seen by any one. The Hugh Rose who built the tower was the sixth generation from the Hugh Rose first mentioned.

In the old design of the coat of arms there was a bunch of some kind behind the shield.

Remember the days of old,
Consider the years of many generations,
Ask thy father, and he will shew thee,
Thine Elders and they will tell thee.

Deuteronomy XXXIX, 7.

Your family thread you can't ascend
Without good reason to apprehend
You may find it waxed at the farther end,
By some plebeian vocation.

SAXE.

Nobility of soul, by nature given line,
Nobler than blood of proud ancestral line.
The royalty of virtue.

Bishop HENRY C. POTTER.

"Say the Nobodies of every land,
'Each tub on its own base must stand.'
'Then what's the use of those forebears,'
Mrs. Newly-rich declares,
But did you ever stop to think
What made the tub to sink or swim?
What it was made it strong to bravely bear
The blows, hurts, knocks of daily wear,
'Tis not the hoops about it laid
But the Wood of which the tub is made.

Rose Genealogy

Rose Family

ROBERT ROSE

ROBERT ROSE was b. in England in 1594, and came with his wife Margery who was b. in the same year and eight children to New England. They sailed on the ship 'Francis' the last of April, 1634, landing at Watertown, Mass. Aug. 23, 1634. Their home probably was at Elmswell, Suffolk Co., Eng. which is a short way from Ipswitch, from which point they sailed.

They first settled at Watertown, Mass. but better opportunities induced them to join a pioneer settlement in Connecticut. They were among the first group to arrive in Wethersfield, where he was one of the largest and original holders of "Adventurous Lands." His homestead was on the west side of Broad Street. He also owned land on the east side of the Connecticut River in the tract surveyed and set out in 1639-40. He owned 312 acres south of the Congregational Church as

Gillett Family

JONATHAN GILLETT

According to American Ancestry Vol. 12, p. 157 the Gillett family from which Jonathan Gillett, the emigrant, descended, left France at the time of the massacre of the Huguenots, Aug. 24, 1572, and settled within the southern boundary of Scotland, where they remained about 57 years. This apparently being the same family that William Gyllett belonged to. Indications point to their having left the south of Scotland about 1629 and settling in Somerset Co., England.

Also in the Boston Transcript in answer to W. B. M. "I have understood that Jonathan Gillett, b. in England 1610, (Probably Scotland) came in the ship "Mary and John" 1630 to Dorchester was of Huguenot ancestry from Bergerac province, Guyenne, France and that the family was noted for the large number of ministers of different denominations. Now was William of Chaffcombe, Eng. an emigrant from France? Jonathan at present located. Rose lane bordering on some of the Rose lands is now Main Street.

Before leaving England they took the oath of allegiance and supremacy to His Majesty at the Customs House in Ipswich before His Majesty's officers according to the orders of the Privy Council. They were fellow passengers with several Watertown, Mass. families and landed in Watertown August 1634.

He had many offices conferred upon him by the town and county. Among these he served as Constable in 1639-40 juror in 1641 Representative to the General Court of the Colony 1641-43.

He was a member of the Wethersfield church. In 1643 'much difference' existed between Rev Henry Smith, pastor and many of the people. Robert Rose prepared a roll of grievances against Mr Smith. The dispute was carried from the town to the General Court in November 1643. This Court cleared Mr Smith and proceeded to impose penalties upon the signers of the 'Declaration against him. Robert Rose was fined 40s for his part others were fined various sums, some as much as £10.

In 1644 he removed to Totoket now Branford, Conn., but a portion of his family remained in Wethersfield. Atwater in his his-

Gillett has been accepted by the Huguenot Society "(Reference—Huguenot Ancestors 5th Edition 1929, and American Ancestry Vol. 12.)

In the New York Gen. Record of 1910, p. 189 reference is made to Elias Gyllett, who with two others witnessed the will of Thomas Gaylard of Chaffcombe, Somerset Co., dated Aug. 19, 1673. As the name Elias appears frequently among the descendants of Jonathan Gillett, the immigrant, it would seem to be an indication that this was the same family that the brothers Jonathan and Nathan belonged to, who came to Dorchester Mass.

From W. B. M.—It may interest those who are looking up the family of Gilletts in its different lines to have their attention called to an article under 'Clues from English Archives' pp 282, 283, Vol. 41. (1910) of the New York His. and Bio. Mag.

The Will of William Gyllette of Chaffcombe, Somerset Co., dated 1641 mentions "My daughters Habish and Mary" also land which my son Nathan made over to me by letter of attorney My son William, the next reversioner of said land shall surrender his estate (therein) unto Thomas when requested thereunto. I give and bequeath unto my son William my chattel (lease) of Court ground. To all my children in tory of the Colony of New Haven states the name of Robert Rose "often appears in connection with Mr Swaine and Mr Plum, especially in affairs spiritual." His was a leading mind in the dissensions which led to the early disruptions of that Colony. His attitude in Branford was that of a worthy citizen aiding and adjusting the affairs of the community. He was liberal in his views, broad in his charities, highly respected and venerated in his life and by succeeding generations. He was regarded as a very wealthy man, owning ten horses when there were not as many more in the town. He dispensed material aid to his less fortunate neighbors giving the Sunday's milking to the poor which was one instance of his beneficence.

Mr Rose died soon after his marriage in 1664 to Elizabeth, widow of Edward Parker who had previously been the widow of John Potter. He d. in Branford Apr 4, 1665. His last will and testament made August 25, 1664 reads as follows

"I give to my son Jonathan a hundred pounds.

2. When all my debts are paid then I give my wife one-third of my whole estate.

3. I give to my son Jonathan five pounds more.

4. I give to my daughter Hannah ten pounds more.

5. It is my will that all of the rest of my estate shall be equally divided into eight parts amongst my other eight children as followeth —That is to each of England I give 2 silver spoons apiece. I give and bequeath unto my son William and his heirs my land called Bomer's lease on condition that he pay out of the same an annuity of £12 vizt To Mary £6, to my daughter Habish 4£ and to my son Jeremiah 40s. To Thomas, Jeremiah, Mary and Habish each one of them one chayre and one frame stool. The rest of my goods I give to my son William, whom I make executor and Mr Joseph Greenfield, Mr Luffe, my brother Richard and my kinsman, Henry Hutchins overseers, Signed William Gyllett, Witness none. Proved Apr 16, 1641 by the Executor

The article goes on to say in connection with the similarity of names (given) that it is highly probable that in the testator William Gyllett we have the father of the two emigrant brothers, Jonathan and Nathan (Jonathan had a son Jeremiah and Nathan a daughter Abia) bequests to whom were omitted because they had received their portion before leaving England, and the casual mention of Nathan having made over land by power of attorney refers to an act performed at the time of his departure. In this connection the bequest "to all my children in England" is noteworthy.

Jonathan Gillett, the progenitor of this branch of the family, belonged with his brother Nathan, to a company of about 140 Puritans, which was formed in the counties of Devonshire, Dorsetshire and Somersetshire, England, sailed in the "Mary and John" Mch. 20, 1630 and arrived off Nan-them a like part but my son John and my daughter Elizabeth both shall have but twenty pounds of that part that falls to them but the rest of that part that falls to them shall be given to their children. I give to the church at Branford £6 13s 4p. His gift or legacy to the church at Branford was its first donation."

His Bible, printed in England in 1599, was for many generations in the possession of descendants, several of whom were deacons of the Congregational Church (History of the Colony of New Haven by Atwater p. 609.)

Lawrence Ward and Samuel Swain were witnesses. This will was probated at New Haven Nov 14, 1666. The estate amounted to £826 9s 7p. His legacy to the church at Branford was its first donation."

Jonathan paid 6s to sit on the long seats at church. He gave 4s 6p to the fund in aid of sufferers by the Indians at Simsbury and Springfield and was one of the committee of distribution.

From the Barber genealogy we learn that an interesting relic in the possession of a descendant of the Gillett family is a Bible brought from England by Jonathan Gillett. It is of the general edition of 1599 and known as the Breeches Bible, for the reason that the fig leaf garment worn by our first parents is translated "Breeches" instead of "apron" as in the King James version.

JAIRUS ROSE AND ZILPHA GILLETT were married Jan. 22, 1794, Middle Granville, Mass. and soon went to Canandaigua, N Y where they made their home. He went there in 1789. When a young lad a man who took interest in him loaned him some books on surveying and his instruments. He thus learned surveying. In 1789 Oliver Phelps of Granville and a Mr Gorham purchased 2,200,000 acres of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in Western New York, which was called the Genesee country. No doubt this is what led Jairus Rose to go to this section. Not so long after a great portion of this tract was sold to the Holland Land Company. Jairus did a good bit of surveying for this company and bought of them about 1,700 acres for which he paid $4.50 and $5.00 per acre. This acreage was in the southwest corner of Cambria, the present site of the village of Sanborn, and the southeast corner of the town of Lewistown, being lots 17 25, 26, 32, 33 and 44. He located his home on the Saunders Settlement Road one mile north and east of Sanborn.

Jairus and Zilpha lived in Canandaigua until after their seventh child was born, then in May, 1811, he removed to Niagara County becoming the first settler in the section surrounding the present villages of Sanborn and Pekin. Their coming was by the usual method in those days, ox team and in addition they had a one horse wagon, the latter being an unusual stylish part of the outfit. The journey took over one week to perform. They came by way of Rochester and the R.dge Road to Dickersonville, where the family stopped with a man by the name of Harris, while Jairus and his three hired men advanced and put up a log house in three days. The way had to be cut from Dickersonville up the mountains (Dickersonville and Mars hill,) to the small open spot in the woods that indicated the beginning. Having more money than was usual with pioneers, his lands were stocked with 40 head of cattle, that had before them a hard winter with the prospect of having to live on twigs of birch and soft maple.

There was considerable valuable pine timber on the purchase, that was relied upon for several years for building purposes. In 1813, Jairus Rose sowed two acres with apple seeds, thus starting the first nursery in the county. When the trees were fit to plant, they were sold for twelve cents a piece and were taken in all directions to start the first orchards in the County.

Besides being a farmer he was a surveyor and it is said that he did most of the surveying in this section in that early day. There are documents in the History of the Holland Land Purchase Museum in Batavia, N Y which state that Jairus was a surveyor.

Then came the war of 1812-14. Jairus Rose was captured during the invasion of the Niagara frontier in 1813. Taking his horse, most of his clothing was stripped from him by his Indian captors, yet he was fortunate enough to hide $400 in his boots without discovery. Two Indians, one on each side, locked arms with their captive, forcing a slow run the entire five miles to Lewiston, and often accelerating his speed by raps over the head with the handle of a tomahawk and the ramrods of their guns. The party crossed into Canada, where a British government agent by the name of Nellis tried to buy Rose. Three times the bargain was completed and a hundred dollars paid down, and as often the Indians failed to give up their prisoner clamoring for the death of the "yankee" whom Nellis was concealing in a garret, denying his whereabouts. Aunt Libbie says that Nellis gave the Indians liquor in which a sleeping potion had been put and in this way Rose got away from his captors. The Indians returned and threatened the life of Nellis if the prisoner was not surrendered to them. He was not, however and after six weeks' confinement during which time his food was passed to him through a scuttle, Jairus was sent in care of a private escort of soldiers to Buffa.o. He made his way through the woods to the home but found the family gone. However he found a note telling where they had gone. He went for them, bringing the family home, that is all of them but the baby Numa, who went to live with his uncle Thomas Gillett, staying there until he was seventeen years of age.

It seems that some one had told Alantha, the oldest girl that they had seen her father and that he was dead. An old Indian, a friendly one, came and told Zilpha to go away to go soon, to go quick. Me good Indian, me tell you to go away. Bad Indians come soon and scalp. These two incidents persuaded the family to go back to Canandaigua.

Peaceable possession of his land was again had after the close of the war where he remained, clearing and improving and disposing of smaller farm lots until his death Jan. 31, 1828, aged 59.

Jairus seemed to get a good bit of amusement out of saying "I am the first son, the seventh son and the only son of my father"

It was Alantha who helped to get the ox team ready and the family ready for a hasty departure. She drove a good part of the way to Canandaigua. Truly she was a pioneer

Alantha Rose probably married at her father's home on Nov 17, 1817 to WILLIAM MILLER, widower and s. of Benjamin and Hannah (Marble) Miller. POLLY ROSE LINE

Polly (6) Jairus (5) John (4) Jonathan (3) Daniel (2) Robert (1) ROSE.

POLLY ROSE was not quite five years old when her parents moved to Western New York. She was six or seven years of age when her father was captured by the Indians, and the family believing him dead and also being warned by a friendly Indian to leave quickly went back to Canandaigua. Polly later married a man who was born in Canandaigua. It may be that even though she was small at the time, they played together. Erand Baxter was a cooper which may be one reason why the family moved about so much. At first they lived on the southwest corner of the Rose farm, several of their children were born there. Then they moved to Ohio, settling near Clyde. For a short time, however, they lived at Medina, Ohio, where Alvin was born. It was in 1837 or 1838 that they moved to Medina. He bought a farm there, but deeded it to his parents.

Polly with sons Erand Hanry and Eli, and grandson, James Francis, went to Nebraska in the spring of 1869. Polly came back to Ohio in 1879. She with the others took up homesteads.

THE GEORGE PHILIP ROSE LINE

Col. George Philip (6) Jairus (5) John (4) Jonathan (3) Daniel (2) Robert (1)
ROSE

COL. GEORGE PHILIP ROSE was b. in Canandaigua, Ontario Co., N. Y., May 1, 1803 and moved with his parents when three years old to a farm one mile east and north of the present village of Sanborn on the Saunders Settlement Road in the Town of Cambria. He lived on this farm until his death, Sep. 9, 1894. He became a member of the state militia and served some time in that capacity in his company. In 1829 he was promoted to Lieutenant of his company and after serving some time in that capacity, became Captain, and later was promoted to Colonel of the 163rd regiment in 1836, by Wm. L. Marcy, then Governor of the State of New York. About this time a Canadian force attempted to cross the river at Lewiston and he was called upon to defend that frontier.

Col. Rose became a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of the towns of Lewiston and Cambria at Pekin when nineteen years of age. He was one of the charter members of the First Free Methodist Society of Pekin, in 1860 and was a member of the board of trustees at the time the society was dissolved in 1873. Even though the local church was discontinued, he retained his membership in the Free Methodist Church.

Ralph L. Treichler, in his History of Sanborn and Pekin wrote as follows concerning this free Methodist church at Pekin—"From 1850 to 1860 there had been trouble and dissention over doctrine and practice in various Methodist Episcopal Churches in the Genesee conference. The dissenters in the Pekin Church broke away and organized a separate church in 1860 under the leadership of Rev B. T. Roberts. It was called the 'First Free Methodist Church of Pekin' and the organization took place under an apple tree on the farm of S. Chesbrough south of the railroad bridge in what is now Sanborn. Other Free Methodist Churches were soon organized, and on Aug. 23, 1860, a convention of the new denomination was held at Pekin consisting of 15 preachers and 80 laymen." Thus was founded in Pekin the Free Methodist Church which in 1917 had nearly 35,000 members and 1,175 churches.

Col. Rose was given the name Philip after the Indian Chief King Philip.

During the war of 1812, when the family went back to Canandaigua, George then about five years of age stayed with an Uncle John who was not overly kind to him. The lad was very fond of honey. One day he tipped over a hive helping himself to a generous piece of honey. He was caught in the act, and justly punished for it. It seems impossible to ascertain who this Uncle John was. His father had a half brother John Haskell. I've heard that he, also, his brothers and sisters went by the name of Rose. Again it may be that he was the husband of one of his Aunts.

NUMA POMPILIUS ROSE LINE

Numa (6) Jairus (5) John (4) Jonathan (3) Dainel (2) Robert (1) ROSE

Numa Pompilius Rose was born Apr. 28, 1811 in Canandaigua, N. Y. and was less than a month old when his parents emigrated farther west, and settled in what is now the northwestern part of Cambria Twp., Niagara Co. Jairus owned about 2,000 acres in this section.

During the war of 1812, the father having been taken captive by the Indians, the family went by ox team back to Canandaigua. Numa was about a year and a half old at this time. His mother's brother and wife—Thomas Gillett and Abigail (Rising) Gillett, having no children of their own, took this baby Numa and brought him up and educated him. He remained with them until he was seventeen years of age. He was a Civil War veteran.

"Numa Pompilius, in the mythic history of Rome, was the successor of Romulus, the founder of the city. He was a native of Cures in the Sabine country and was universally revered for his wisdom and piety. Unanimously elected king by the Roman people, he soon justified by his conduct the wisdom of their choice. After dividing the lands which Romulus had conquered, he proceeded, with the assistance of the sacred nymph Egeria, to draw up religious institutions for his subjects, and thus stands out in the primitive legend as the author of the Roman ceremonial law. His reign lasted for 39 years, and was a golden age of peace and happiness. The only feature in the myth of Numa Pompilius which we can regard as probably historical, is that which indicates the infusion of a Sabine religious element into Roman history at some remote period."

Numa was named for the above.

GOODRICH

From Goodrich Genealogy and Ancient Wethersfield

The Goodriches of England were of ancient lineage, antedating the Norman Conquest, with many lands, confiscated by William the Conqueror. The Domesday book indicates the family was of standing at the time of the Norman Conquest. A father Godric was elected Abbot of the Abbey Croyland 870. Reference is made to Goodrich Castle. It is situated in Herefordshire 4 miles southwest from Ross, and six miles northeast from Monmouth. Here was b. Harry of Monmouth. Both castle and court stand on the right bank of the Wye, one mile distant from Goodrich Ferry. An ancient stone cross evidently of Roman construction, a church with a history and a cemetery containing sepulchral monuments, from the shields of which time has long blotted the names they were raised to commemorate.

Near Penderaig House, you obtain a combined view of Goodrich Court and Goodrich Castle. The former is a palace or residence with halls, galleries and appendages, modern in point of years, yet of baronical and constellated type.

It is shown by Domesday Book and Freeman's "History of the Norman Conquest, 1066" that the land holders of the Goodrich family were then numerous. Freeman makes repeated mention of a Godric of great prominence, who fell at Senlac in the battle of Hastings, bravely fighting for his king and country. He was officially conspicuous and possessed of large landed estates in different counties. He was sheriff of Berkshire and Buckinghamshire and possibly of Bedfordshire. At that time Sheriff was the first man in the county.

Their Saxon descent renders it probable the Goodriches were loyal to England, and followed Harold and in consequence, their lands were forfeited to the Conqueror and confiscated. He was a large land holder in various counties.

John Goodrich and brother William, were sons of John Goodrich and Margaret Stillman. They were grandsons of William Goodrich of Hedgessett, Suffolk Co., England, coming from Bury Saint Edmunds, Eng., and probably were at Wethersfield as early as 1644. They came to America about 1640.

John (1) Goodrich, the eldest of the two brothers who came to Wethersfield, was b. probably at or near Bury Saint Edmunds, Eng. He bought Robert Rose's homestead in 1644.

In 1645, he m. (1) Elizabeth. Who she was is not known. His oldest daughter was Elizabeth, b. Nov 2, 1645. She m. Daniel Rose of Wethersfield in 1664.

HALE

From Ancient Wethersfield, Vol. II

Samuel Hale, Sr., b. 1615. Came early to New England, supposedly from Wales. They were men of great strength. He was a soldier in the Pequot War and received for his services a lot in the "Soldier's Field." He m. about 1642, MARY SMITH, dau. of Rev Henry Smith and wife Dorothy He d. in Nov. 1693

In his will, dated Dec. 6, 1692, he gives to his son Ebenezer to whom he gives "all my right and title to 3 score acres of land granted to me by the General Court for my services in the Pequot War, also my great Bible and all the rest of my books, except one I gave my daughter-in-law, Naomi Kilbourn, wife of Thomas."

The widow Hale d. Jan. 19, 1711-12.

Ebenezer was the 7th child, b. July 29, 1661. His father gave him 96 acres of land on each side of the river in 1673 was fence viewer in Naubuc in 1686; signed agreement for a new church there Feb. 1691.

Samuel Hale, was in Wethersfield as early as 1637, when, with his brother, Thomas, he served in the Pequot War He drew land in the 1670 allotment, in March 1680, he made an affidavit in which he says he is 65 years old. He signed the covenant for a new church in Naubuc in February 1691.

It is not known who Ebenezer's wife was nor his children with exception of Abigail who was b. Mch. 20, 1688, Wethersfield, and d. May 2, 1791, Granville, Mass.

THE REV HENRY SMITH OF WETHERSFIELD

Vol. 10, American Genealogy by Jacobus.

The origin in England of the Rev Henry Smith, first pastor of the Church of Christ, in Wethersfield, Conn., is still uncertain. The only early account of Rev Henry Smith of Wethersfield is contained in a letter written Jan. 1, 1698-99 by Samuel Smith of Hadley, s. of Rev Henry Smith in reply to inquiries made by his son. It was first published in 1901, in "Colonial Days and Ways" by Miss Helen Evertson Smith of Sharon, Conn., whose name was in the ancient stone house in Sharon and appears on page 47 of her book. He says in part "My father and mother came over in 1636-7 first to Watertown which is near Boston. and after a year or two, to Wethersfield on ye great river where he became ye first settled pastor My parents had brought both men and maid servants from England. I do so well remember the face and figure of my honored father He was 5 foot 10 inches tall and square build, though not lean. He was active as ye red skin men and sinewy His delight was in sports of strength and with his own hands did help to rear both our own house an ye first meeting house of Wethersfield, wherein he preached years too few He was well featured and fresh favored with fair skin and long curling hair (as nearly all of us had) with a merrie eye and sweet smiling mouth though he could frown stern enough when need was. My mother and sister did each of them kill more than one of ye gray growlers (wolves) and once my oldest sister shot a bear that came too near the house. He was a good fat one and did keep us in meat for a good while.

As most of the Wethersfield settlers did come afoot through the wilderness and brought with them such things only as they did most need at the first, the other things were sent round from Boston in vessels to come up the river to us. Some of the ships did come safe to Wethersfield, but many were lost in a great storm. Amongst them was one which held all our best things. A good many years later, long after my father had died of the grate fever and my mother had married Mr Russell and moved to Hadley it was found that some of our things had been saved and kept in the fort which is by the river's mouth and they were brought to us. Most of them was spoiled by sea water and molded, especially the books and plate. Of this there was no great store, only the tankard, which I have and some spoons divided amongst my sisters, which were so black it was long before they came to their right color, and Mr Russell did think that had it not been so, they might not have found us again but he was some time a little short of charity what thinketh no evil at least I was wont to think so when his hand was too heavy on my shoulders and I remembered the sweetness of the charity of my first father

Rev Henry's wife was Dorothy———, doubtless some years younger than he. Their first daughter, MARY b. about 1624-5, m. about 1642 SAMUEL HALE of Wethersfield.

ARNOLD

From the Drusilla Arnold-Lucky Family Genealogy—Our Family Ties.

The family of ARNOLD had its origin among the ancient Princes of Wales and its very antique lineage has been carefully and correctly traced herein from Alfred the Great, King of England, b. 849, down through the famous Gamage line to Roger Arnold of Llanthony whose great grandson Thomas Arnold of Cheselborne, England, was the father of William and Thomas Arnold who came to America in 1635. Settled first in Massachusetts, then in Rhode Island and associated themselves with Roger Williams and were the progenitors of most all of the numerous Arnolds of America.

In the book are pictures of Abergavenny Castle, of the Coat of Arms and of Llanfihangel Court.

William Arnold came with his family to Hingham, Mass. and after residing there a short time, joined Roger Williams and others in the purchase from the Indians of lands at Mooshausock, later called Providence. He was a man of large affairs, admired and respected by the community and held various important offices of public trust. His wife was Christian, whose surname has not been preserved. William was made freeman in 1655. He was the ancestor of the infamous Benedict of West Point.

His oldest child ELIZABETH, b. Nov 23, 1611, became the wife of THOMAS (1) Hopkins.

WHIPPLE

Compiled by Charles H. Whipple.

The Whipple family originated with Henri de V Hipple, a gentleman of Normandy of the Vale of Suere. For his gallantry he was granted the Memorial Estates of Wraxall—taking the name of Wraxall—that is, Richard de V Hipple—was knighted on the battlefield of Agincourt, and given the motto "Fidele et Brave." Leaving Wraxall on account of persecution, the name of de V. Hipple was resumed which in time of Henry VII (1485-1509) was anglicized into Whipple. Has crest and coat of arms.

Capt. John Whipple (Emigrant Ancestor) one of the early settlers of Providence, R. I. was b. in England in 1617 and d. May 16, 1685. What part of England he came from is not known. Nothing very definite is known about the Cooleys. In Comp. Am. Gen. THE WOLCOTT FAMILY

The Family of Henry Wolcott by Chandler Wolcott, of Rochester, N Y

Henry Wolcott of Galdon Hanor Tolland, Somersetshire, England, the progenitor of the American Wolcott's, 1578.

The English Ancestry for fifteen generations in England is given. Henry b. at Tolland in 1578, was m. Jan. 19, 1606, to Elizabeth Saunders, dau. of Thomas of Lydiard, St. Lawrence Co., of Somerset, Eng. Elizabeth bp. Dec. 20, 1584. He came to Dorchester with his wife and three sons, Henry, George and Christopher, and was the founder of the Wolcott family here. He first came to America in 1628, to learn the nature of this country. Returned to Tolland and came back May 30, 1630, bringing his wife and three sons with him. He removed to Windsor about 1636 and settled among the first individual freemen, founders of the Connecticut Colony. Henry the father again returned to England and brought over his youngest son Simon and his daughters Anna and Mary, and thus terminated his Tolland residence—though he for some time afterward owned Galdon Manor devised to him by his elder brother Christopher—transplanting his entire family to Windsor Conn. save John, his eldest son, who d. in Tolland after his father had left.

Henry was the s. of John Wolcott of Tolland. He d. May 30, 1655, aged 77, and she d. July 7 1655, aged 73. Both buried in Windsor Conn.

Henry Wolcott and Rev Mr Warham had organized in England what became the first church in Windsor Conn., after they had engaged their passage from Plymouth in 1630, in the "Mary and John." This is the oldest English speaking church of its faith next to that of Southwark. Henry Wolcott was thus essential founder of both the two colonies—Mass. and Conn. In introducing into those American Colonies the ancient British Custom of electing their rulers, his voice was influential in selecting John Haynes, as Governor, first of Massachusetts and later of the Connecticut Colony.

It is certain that the Wolcotts, like other Britons, had a castle, park, etc., early located near Shrewsbury, Shopshire, not far from the Wales border to keep off the Welsh. One worthy intrepid Welsh king, however, won and was accepted in marriage by Elizabeth Wolcott, daughter of Sir William.

In 1903 when the writer was sitting in the old castle at Taunton, Somersetshire, England, which dates from 1100—now the public library and museum—examining books and antiquities, on my making a casual remark to a member of our group after our return from a drive to Tolland, suddenly a gentleman standing near, thinking my remark was addressed to him, turned towards us and exclaimed, "What Wolcotts?" Why if those gentlemen had stayed here in England instead of going to America they would have been our Dukes and Lords.

SIMON WOLCOTT youngest son of Henry and Elizabeth, b. Sep. 11, 1624, England and d. Sep. 11, 1687 Windsor Conn., m. Mch. 19, 1656, Joanna Cook, and m. (2) Oct. 17 1661, Windsor Conn., MARTHA PITKIN, "late from England," sister of William Pitkin, Esq., of East Hartford, Conn. Martha d. Oct. 13, 1719, aged 80 years and 2 mo. Their eldest child, ELIZABETH, b. Aug. 19, 1662, Simsbury Conn., and d. Jan. 3, 1708. m. Dec. 8, 1680, DANIEL COOLEY, s. of Benjamin (1) and Sarah () Cooley

PITKIN

Name is an abbreviation or derivation of Peterkin, which is kin to Peter

The records of Herfordshire, England, bear witness that the name Pitkin is an honorable one. The royal Borough of Berkhamsted, St. Peters Herfordshire, appears to have been the home of the Pitkins at an early date.

In A. D. 1524, Henry VIII founded a free grammar school, and endowed it with lands belonging to the dissolved monastery of the fraternity of St. John the Baptist. William Pitkin was its 6th school master. He was buried in St. Dunstons, Fleet Street.

The family is traceable over portions of Europe and the West Indies, irrespective of the American branch. We found the name in Naples—a wealthy oil merchant—formerly from London. He had a brother in Rome—a merchant, also a merchant in Constantinople, and also a family in Germany. One of its descendants, William Pitkin, came to America, etc.

William Pitkin, the progenitor of the family in America, came from London, England in 1659, where he left a sister Martha, and a brother Roger. It is not known if they had parents living, as a sister Martha, followed him to America several months later “not supposing” as she expressed it “that he intended to remain in the wilderness.” But the visit resulted quite differently.

MARTHA PITKIN b. Aug. 1639 d. Oct. 13, 1719, aged 80 years, 2 mo. She m. Oct. 17 1661, Windsor Conn., SIMON WOLCOTT s. of Henry and Elizabeth (Saunders) Wolcott. They had 9 children.

CHAPIN LINE

The Chapin family in America, taking root from Dea. Samuel Chapin, had flourished like the proverbial "Green Bay Tree." He was a leader, a man of great influence his children caught his spirit and ever held fast to his ideals transferring them to their children and so on down through the generations. The object of this genealogy is not only to record the data of the descendants of Dea. Samuel, but to state briefly facts that will indicate character

John Chapin, m. Sep. 14, 1590, Phillipe Easton. Samuel, one of the children was bp. Oct. 8, 1596, and d. Nov. 11, 1675. Samuel came to New England, probably with his father and family in 1635 or earlier. A record at Roxbury, of early but unknown date, shows that he possessed 24 acres of land there and had eight persons in his family. In 1641 he bought a house and lot and became a freeman, which implied that he was a church member and gave him the right to vote and hold office under the Colony Governor

DEACON SAMUEL m. Feb. 9, 1623, Paignton, Cicely Penny dau. of Henry and Jane Penny. They had seven children. Catherine b. before Apr. 6, 1630, d. Feb. 4, 1712, Springfield, Mass. She m. Nov. 26, 1646, Nathaniel Bliss of Springfield, Mass., s. of Thomas and Margaret (Lawrence) Bliss. Nathaniel d. Nov. 18, 1654, at Springfield. Their son Samuel, b. Nov. 7 1647 and d. June 19, 1749, aged 102, m. 1672 Sarah Stebbins, dau. of Lieut. Thomas and Hannah (Wright) Stebbins. Their daughter Margaret, b. 1681 or 1683, m. Jan. 31, 1701, Longmeadow, Mass. Benjamin Cooley, s. of Daniel and Elizabeth (Wolcott) Cooley

Dea. Samuel evidently was an acquaintance of Wm. Pynchon in England and his neighbor in Roxbury. Pynchon in 1636 led about a dozen families westward to the Connecticut River where he founded the settlement known as Aquawam, later removed to Springfield. Deacon Samuel was one of the select men to watch over the health, morals, and public measures. One of their most delicate duties was the assigning of seats in the meeting house.

WRIGHT

From History of Springfield, Mass. Vol. 11.

Dea. Samuel Wright was in Springfield in 1641 went to Northampton in 1656 and d. there Oct. 17 1665. His wife Margaret d. in 1681. He served on various committees concerning town affairs and with others conducted religious services in absence of the minister. He d. in his chair. They had 10 children. HANNAH was the eldest daughter or she was a sister of Dea. Samuel Wright. She m. Nov. 1645, THOMAS STEBBINS, s. of Rowland and wife Sarah Stebbing.

STEBBINS LINE

From the New Eng. Gen. Reg. Vol. 5, p. 72, also from other Volumes

The Stebbins Family is of great antiquity in England. The eldest branch resided in Yorkshire and descended from Sir Thomas Stebbing, Bart.

The name Stebbing, probably originated in the County of Essex, England, where in the hundred of Hincford, there is a town or parish of Stebbing. In this county is found the earliest mention of Stebbing yet discovered. John de Stubing of Essex, being recorded in the chancery rolls or records 3 John, 1201 as having been fined one marc as scutage or compensation fee for the non-performance of military duty. He was probably a crown vassal. Thomas Stebing is mentioned (3 Edw 1, 1275) as possessing a house in Bernwell, a suburb of Canterbury (Co. of Kent) which he inherited from his father Walter Stebing.

The families of Stebbins and Pynchon were connected, at least by friendship before leaving England, and for this reason probably Rowland Stebbins chose to join the Springfield colony. The friendship continued through life. The ancient gentility of these families was duly recognized as having been descended from the most ancient and celebrated houses in England. As to the Stebbing family few of England's hautiest nobles can trace their lineage to a period as remote as they.

Rowland Stebbing was b. in England in 1594. He arrived in America with his wife and family in 1634. They came on the ship Francis of and from Ipswich, Eng. Co. of Suffolk, where was a parish and family by the name of Stebbing or Stubbing, both having a common origin. Rowland Stebbing was 40 when he came to America and his wife Sarah ———, was 43. They first settled at Roxbury, but removed to Springfield. His wife d. there in 1649, Oct. 4. The family came to Springfield with or soon after the first settlers under William Pynchon, the leader of that colony in 1636. It appears from town records of Longmeadow that Rowland was considered the ancestor of all of that name. He had five sons, the oldest was Thomas, b. in 1620, England. Rowland d. Dec. 14, 1671. He made a will, signed Jan. 1st, 1669. Their eldest son Thomas, according to New Eng. Gen. Reg. Vol. 5, p. 72, m. a dau. of Dea. Samuel Wright in Nov 1645. In Vol. 4, p. 335 we find some notes on the Wright family. Thomas took oath of allegiance at Springfield, Mass. Dec. 31, 1678. His wife, Hannah d. Oct. 16, 1660, soon after their last child was born.

Their last daughter SARAH, b. Aug. 6, 1654 and d. Nov. 6, 1721, m. SAMUEL BLISS, s. of Nathaniel and Catherine (Chapin) Bliss.

BARBERBarber Genealogy

Thomas Barber's name appears in the early Colonial Records of Windsor Conn. Was born probably in the county of Bedfordshire, Eng. about 1614. He came to Windsor in 1635 with the party fitted out by Sir Richard Saltonstall under Francis Stiles, a master carpenter of London. He was then 21 years of age and was the first of the Barber name in New England. He served in the Pequot War. Came over in ship "Christian."

Thomas Barber's residence it was stated was located upon an ancient road which running southeasterly from the rivulet (near where the present road from Palisade Green comes in) intersected the Poquonnock road above the old mill. On the north side of this road were the residences of Thomas Barber, Humphrey Hyde and Alex Alvord and on the south side that of Jonathan Gillett.

In 1661, Thomas was granted 600 acres of land. He was to improve 20 acres within a year, but died Oct. 20, 1662.

SPENCER LINE

This sent to me by O. G. Wolcott, and taken from a book he had borrowed "Our New England Ancestors and Their Descendants."

Collins Peerage states that the family of Spencers were made peers by James 1 by the title of Lord Spencer of Wormleighton, and were afterward made Earls of Sutherland obtained the Dukedom of Marlborough by marriage with Lady Anne, second daughter and co-heir of John Churchill, the Duke of that title, whose ancestry in England began with Roger de Courcil, eldest son of Wandril, who came to England in 1066 with William the Conqueror and was rewarded for his services with land in Somersetshire and Devonshire, part being the Lordship of Churchill. The most ancient armour is that of Baron Churchill, but Burkes general Armory gives 45 designs.

STILES

From Robert Stiles Genealogy

The Saxon Stighele means at the stile or steps or rising path, so that "Will" or "Rich" "atte Stighele" simply designates a certain William or Richard, who lived near a stile, a primitive and simple method of distinguishing individuals at a period when family surnames, were not as common as they are now. Thus by use and in course of time, William at the stile became William Stile.

The Lacale of the Stiles family in England, as evidenced by the historical memoranda, which we have accumulated in the following pages, was principally if not altogether in the southeast corner of England, viz., in present counties of Suffolk, Norfolk, Kent, Essex, Sussex and Northampton. This was the part of original Britain which was first conquered (A. D. 449-450) by the hordes of Jutes, Engles and Saxons, who swarmed over the European mainland, and finally coalesced (A. D. 829) under King Ecgbrecht, and as the English people occupying what since had been known as England (i. e. the land of the Engles—our Fatherland.)

But for the real Fatherland of the English race, and of course, for that of the Stile family and name we must look still farther away beyond England itself consult a map of northern Europe. In the five centuries A. D. the northern portion of the peninsula now known as Jutland and which divides the North Sea or German Ocean from the Baltic Sea, was occupied by a warrior tribe called Jutes, who were probably akin to the race that was fringing the opposite shores of Scandinavia and settled among the Danish isles.

From the settling of the same peninsula of Jutland, the tribes of Saxons, spread over the sand flats of Holstein and along the marshes of Friesland and the Elbe, and between the Jutes and Saxons was a district now called Sleswick, but which was then known as Angeln or the Englesland. These three tribes were so closely united as to be known by neighboring people under the common name of Englishmen a name which indicates also the Angles as being at the time when their history opens to us, the most powerful of the three. Our simple object in the preceding pages has been to enable us and you as members of the Stiles family to trace back your blood origin through 2½ centuries of (America) New England life, (1885-1635 A. D.) and through early British centuries (1635-45 A. D.) of old English life, and from thence through the "Unfathomable mists" of time which envelop their ancestry in that still older England of all—the old, old Fatherland which lies in and around the Jutland peninsula, the Weser, Lower Hanover and Oldenberg—the cradle of the Anglo-Saxon race.

On both sides of the Atlantic, the Stiles Family has held a respectable, though not exalted position. In England it has embraced two lines of Baronetcy (one now long extinct) and presents a fair array of names respectable and eminent in the literature, as well as in the public, military, naval and civil service of the kingdom. On this side, its record is merely that of simple folk—mostly farmers with a fair sprinkling of clergymen, physicians, etc.—enterprising, intelligent, self-reliant, patriotic and God-fearing.

Early in the winter of 1638-9, a company of emigrants, numbering about 20 families, with Rev Ezekiel Rogers as their guide, left Yorkshire, England and came to Salem, Mass., where they spent the winter. There numbers increased to 60 families. When Spring came they removed to a locality half way between the towns of Ipswich and Newbury. They purchased these two towns for £800 an extensive tract of land, now comprising the towns of Rowley, Boxford, Bradford, Groveland, Georgetown and parts of two or three others ———.

Robert Stiles, another early settler was an emigrant from England (Yorkshire). In 1659, we find him owning a farm containing 250 acres with buildings thereon, in Rowley village. He mortgaged his farm. To write his name was more than he was capable of doing. He was one of six who bought 3000 acres of village lands. 1200 acres of it were laid out in lots or plots.

John Frye was from Basing, Hauts Co., England. He arrived in Boston, Aug. 1638 with his wife, Anna and three children. Mr Frye was one of the first settlers of the town of Andover and his offspring, men of great note. He was one of the original purchasers of the Cochichewick tract removed from Newbury to Andover previous to 1641.

Among the posterity of the emigrants, John and Anna Frye there have been from the first, persons of note. There were Copprils, Sergeants, Clarks, Ensigns, Lieutenants, 12 Captains, Magistrates, Colonnes and Majors, two judges of the court of Common Pleas and two Hon. Counsellors, and several Justices of the Peace, and some of the rest, excellent good citizens. They had 6 children.
